Olten, 26th March 2020

The current situation regarding the coronavirus poses a major challenge for everyone - including SBB Cargo International. The impact of the required measures on operations is enormous. This makes it even more important to ensure optimum handling of our rail freight traffic in order to guarantee fast and reliable transport to and from our customers and partners.

Our Services

SBB Cargo International adapts its resources and timetables to the current situation in Europe on a daily basis. We coordinate our transport flows depending on the various measures taken by the individual countries.

Thanks to the outstanding performance of our employees, we can assure our customers and partners that we can guarantee freight traffic today and in the future. Our attention is focused on the infrastructures without which we cannot reach our goal.

Our Measures

Since the beginning of the crisis, SBB Cargo International has been implementing all the measures required by the authorities to guarantee the maintaining of our traction services and, above all, the protection of our employees.

SBB Cargo International's emergency response team reassesses the situation on a daily basis and responds appropriately to enable our customers and partners to transport goods.

We do everything in our power to maintain SBB Cargo International's rail freight services and thus the supply of goods to the economic centres in our network.
